Greetings,

June 2013

Our open house and the work involved is behind us now. We had over 30 people show up for the open house. There was one couple who read about it in the newspaper and they spent the whole day visiting with us. They've even been back since then to spend more time with us.

They've been telling everyone about us and trying to get us more support. They've also given us a huge blessing by financing the roof paint we needed. Our multi color roof will be one color. We were also contacted by a local restaurant in the next town over, and they wanted to know what they could do for us. We sent them our wish list and they've been sharing it with everyone they know and they brought us large padded benches from the restaurant which we can use for living room furniture. We've also had a few more local donations of money into The Fold bank account. It's such a blessing for all the support we've been getting.

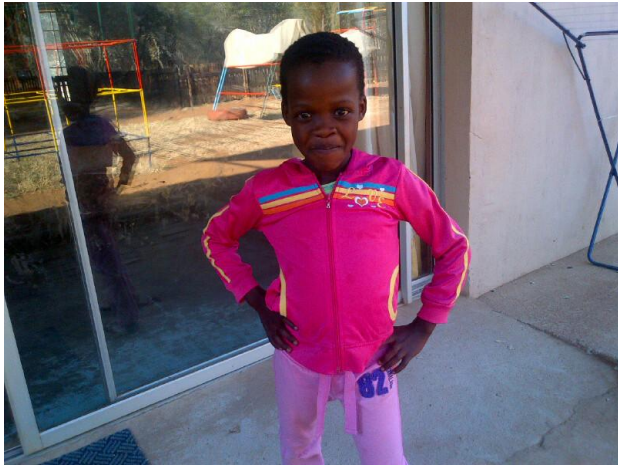

Sixteen people came from a Pretoria church and spent the day with the children. We had visitors from Kwalata, the game farm that donates meat to us. They brought gifts for the children and a huge amount of meat. The visitors were the ones who actually shot the animal and then donated the meat. We've had a problem lately getting meat, but the freezer is fully stocked now.

School break started on the 21st of this month. We have lots of guests coming the second two weeks of the break. A group from our home church in the US and another group the week after coming from the UK. We plan on having our church group building some closets in some bedrooms for us, and the UK group will be painting a basketball/netball court for us, and playing sports with the children. Lots of great fun. Six of our children will miss out. Some of their family members have come to take them home for the school break. But it's good that they're getting some family time. Some of our children don't even remember their family, as they have been here over two years and the family doesn't visit.

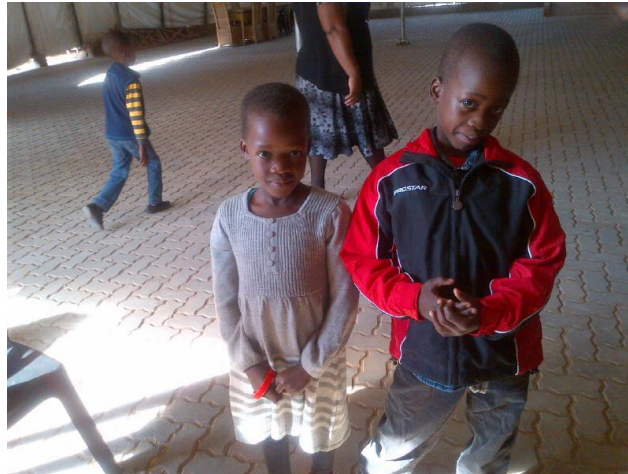

The week after the open house, we took the children to a family fun day at the local private school. The children had a blast. We also had a space to sell jewelry/jam and pass out our literature. We made some good contacts that day also.

We had a new child join us. Her name is Mpho and she will be 7 years old next month. She is also Kamogelo's sister. We are happy they can be together again.

We had 3 birthdays this month, Lettah turned 2, Gadibo turned 10 and Jessica turned 8.

Praises: Adam and Jennifer Hayes, our future helpers arriving on 26 July. Local interests in The Fold continue to increase. Our visitors this month and next month. Good turnout for our open house. Meat donations.
